

HOW DO YOU REMOTE?

Podcast Series
Summer 2023

Session Information

Purpose

Provide a platform for professionals in various fields from coast to coast to share their experiences while adding to the growing body of knowledge in the new era of remote work.

Recording

The session will be recorded via Zoom. Guest and speaker will see and interact with one another, but only the sound will be recorded, edited, and released at a later date on the website with the ability to share on various social media platforms.

Topics

This summer series will include questions centered around "how you remote" to highlight your experience working remote yourself, with colleagues, staff, or leaders in a 100% remote or hybrid environment.

Consider ideas or examples you'd like to share related:

- Your name/title/position (share what you are comfortable with)
- How you work remote
- How you work with others who are remote, hybrid, or on-site
- Best moment(s) / Innovations
- Worst moment(s) / Lessons learned / Challenges
- Word of Advice to Others

We can drill down into one area or stay more broad depending on your comfort level.

Format

Intro

Log in and check sound with the host.

Recording Begins

Host will ask a random icebreaker question just for fun to get you warmed up - may not be used in final product.

Q/A

Your answers will guide the session. If we discover a point of passion that you really enjoy talking about, the final version may center around this aspect. We want to make you look good all while having fun and being open to new discoveries!

Wrap-up

Host will ask the guest for any final thoughts or words of advice such as what you would want others to know about remote work?

Host closes session.
